

AGILE AND SYNCHRONIZED SUPPLY CHAIN SOLUTION

As customer expectations and competition rises, companies are forced to find answers for the following questions:

- How can we restructure our company's supply chain to gain most out of it?
- How can we design our supply chain to enter a new market?
- How can our supply chain gain most out of the changing dynamics of the economy like introduction of GST?
- How can we leverage upon the services of 3PLs and 4PLs?
- Are the supply chain networks -- logistics hubs, distribution centers, warehouses, and other facilities -- located in the right places with the right missions?

GST Network Modeling

The implementation of GST, in 2011, is a major milestone for the Indian Tax System, which will bring about changes in the way manufacturing, warehousing and distribution is carried out in India. To stay competitive, companies should be ready with their new supply chain strategy post GST- with details of an optimal network structure and the steps that needs to be taken to get there.

Our supply chain experts and tax consultants work in tandem to design an optimized network and provide complete guidelines of how to get there. The GST Network Modeling is carried out in 3 stages : Ready, Set, Go...

So be ahead of the pack and take benefits of the immediate savings post GST, and act now.
